Background

Travis Allan is a New Zealand actor represented by TMH Management. Based in Auckland, he works across feature films, television, commercials and digital productions.

Travis is a versatile screen actor with over a decade of Tae Kwon Do experience, bringing strong physical performance skills to both dramatic and action-based roles. A graduate of South Seas Film School, he has continued to develop his craft through advanced screen acting and stunt training.

Travis received recognition for his leading role in the award-winning short film O'live Me Alone, which won Best Film (19–21 Age Category) at the New Zealand Youth Film Festival 2023. He has since appeared in New Zealand's long-running television drama Shortland Street and stars in the lead role of the independent New Zealand feature film Bogged. With a combination of screen experience, athletic ability and professional training, Travis continues to build a strong career across film, television and commercial productions.
