Background

Travis emerges as a dynamic young actor, fuelled by a profound dedication to his craft and martial arts prowess. Boasting over a decade immersed in Tae Kwon Do, his journey has recently led him to graduate from South Seas Film School, where he cultivated a keen interest in physical performance and daring stunts.

Travis clinched accolades for his standout role in the short film "O'live Me Alone," notably securing Best Film in the 19-21 age category at NZYFF 2023. Since completing his studies, Travis has diligently refined his skills through intensive workshops, seizing a notable guest appearance on "Shortland Street." Presently, he commands the screen in the lead role of the independent New Zealand feature, "Bogged," showcasing his multifaceted abilities and promising future in the industry.
